

Wildlife Rockstars Safety Protocol

1. A certificate of additional insurance can be provided if necessary
2. All animals used will be accompanied by a current (within 90 days) health certificate signed by a licensed veterinarian
3. No animals used are subject to state or federal regulation thereby eliminating the need for permits
4. No animals are considered dangerous by the Department of Environmental Conservation or the United States Department of Agriculture
5. Proper restraints and equipment will be used at all times
6. All animals will be accompanied by an experienced animal handler at all times
7. All animals will be transported discretely (limited access areas if available) in approved transport crates and containers
8. At no time will any animals have direct contact with the general public, staff, or others in your organization
9. All waste will be disposed of properly by our staff and removed from the premises

Lori Stahlman, Director of Wildlife Education and Outreach Programs, has worked for 10 years as an animal handler for Bridges For Brain Injury coordinating animal appearances within the community as well as on “Late Night with Conan O’Brien”, “The Rachel Ray Show”, “Good Morning America”, “The Early Show”, and more.

Jarod Miller, Zoologist and TV Celebrity, also provides his time as our Zoological Consultant.

Other program staff include a Veterinarian Technician and a Wildlife Rehabilitator.

Dr. Stephanie Dodds of Rio Vista Animal Hospital provides USDA program of veterinarian oversight.
